OKLAHOMA PIPE LINE

COMPANY FORMED UNDER STATE LAWS TO CONSTRUCT LINE TO CARRY OIL OUT OF
THE STATE.

BATON ROUGE, LA., TERMINAL

Work Is to Begin at Once and Line Is to Be Completed by the First of Next February.

Bartlesville, Okla., Nov. 1.—The Standard Oil company has compromised its controversy with the State of Oklahoma by organizing the Oklahoma Pipe Line company, to build an eight-inch pipe line to carry oil to the Standard refinery at Baton Rouge, La., according to an announcement made here today. Construction work will begin at once and it is expected that oil will be running through the line by Feb. 1.

This will greatly relieve the oil situation in the Oklahoma field where low prices caused by the inability of the producers to market their oil has caused considerable loss.

The new company will be an Oklahoma corporation, directly under the supervision of the state corporation commission, which has authority to regulate rates. The company will be exclusively a common carrier and will not buy oil nor own property of any kind in Oklahoma, save for the purpose of operating its pipe line.

Ends Long Fight.

The building of this new pipe line probably will bring to an end the fight of Attorney General West against the Prairie Oil & Gas company since the beginning of statehood. The Prairie company, a foreign corporation, undertook the building of a new pipe line and was enjoined by the attorney general under a provision of the constitution, denying to foreign corporations the benefits of the right of eminent domain over public highways. A domestic corporation could exercise this right, but the Prairie company positively refused to become a domestic corporation, not being inclined to subject itself to the control of the state corporation commission.

Attorney General West was opposed in his suit by Governor Haskell, on the ground that the attorney general had no authority to bring a suit in the name of the state unless directed to do so by the governor. This dispute is still in the courts.

Result of New Law.

The last legislature enacted the Strain-Yeager law, which prohibited a foreign corporation from laying oil or gas pipe lines along or across the public thoroughfares while domestic corporations were allowed to do so without compensation to the state or property owners. This law effectively tied up the Prairie Oil & Gas company in the further building of pipe lines, and its only way of escape was to operate through a separate domestic company.

business men here.

Over a year ago the Prairie Oil and Gas Co. secured right of way through Muskogee county for a pipe line, the county commissioners granting the right to use the public highways. One of the inducements held out was an agreement that a pumping station costing not less than a quarter of a million dollars would be built in Muskogee county. This was prior to the opening of the new Muskogee field.
Since that time the oil business has assumed large proportions locally. Oil men believe a new pipe line will not only give a market for all their oil but that it will increase the price.

SIXTY-THREE PRODUCTS ON EIGHTY ACRES

A Most Remarkable Demonstration of Intense Farming in Oklahoma.

Guthrie, Ok., Oct. 31.—An interesting demonstration of the possibilities for the small farmer in Oklahoma was shown during the last week by the exhibit made by Andrew Burton of Perkins, at the agricultural fair and carnival at Coyle, open to competitors from both Payne and Logan counties, which took the grand prize for the best exhibit of farm products by one farmer.

Mr. Burton had on exhibition sixty-three varieties of farm products grown on his eighty acres of land, of which but fifty are in cultivation. In addition, Mrs. Burton had on exhibition with her husband's exhibit twenty-three varieties of canned and pickled fruits and vegetables.

Burton's exhibit included all of the staples grown in Oklahoma, except broom corn, and of course many things not usually grown. He had four kinds of baled hay, prairie hay, oat straw, alfalfa and cowpea hay; three good varieties of corn, fine potatoes, both sweet and Irish, fine wheat, oats, Kafir corn and numerous other grains; turnips, onions, beans, peas, carrots and other vegetables; melons, pumpkins, etc.; pecans, walnuts and peanuts; apples, berries, persimmons and a great variety of other fruit.

He attributes much of his success to up-to-date methods.

A MILLION CATALPA TREES.

Another Oklahoma Enterprise—Grow Fence Posts and Telephone Poles.

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 31.—A company has been organized in this city for the purpose of planting 1,000 acres in catalpa trees. The plantation is located about twenty-nine miles southwest of Enid, Ok. The trees are to be planted next spring. The company expects to plant about 1,500 trees to the acre or about 1,500,000 trees on the plantation.

The great and ever increasing demand for fence posts, telephone poles and railroad ties has led to the organization of the company and the purchasing of the land. Telephone poles sell for about one dollar, fence posts being from 15 to 30 cents and railroad ties bring from 30 to 50 cents, the price depending upon the tie.

District Court.

Court adjourned this morning and will not convene again until Thursday morning. Judge Rainey was called to Hugo, leaving on the noon train, and Judge Richardson, who is to take his place cannot get here until tomorrow night.

NEW YORK ELECTION

CAMPAIGN ENDS WITH SPEECH MAKING—RIVAL CAMPS CLAIM VICTORY.

WILL TAMMANY GO DOWN

Murphy Confident Gaynor Will Receive More Votes Than Both His Opponents.

New York, Nov. 1.—New York's triangular political campaign ended tonight. William J. Gaynor, the democratic candidate for mayor made his final speech in Harlem. Otto T. Ban-nard, candidate for the republican and fusion forces, closed his campaign with a noon-day address on the water front and a brief talk to negro voters at a church in the evening.

Hearst, the independent candidate, wound up his formal speech-making last night at Madison Square garden, but some of the lesser lights of his independent campaign burned fire and espoused his cause with a final burst of oratory at open air meetings.

In each of the rival camps complete confidence of the result was expressed.
Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, said:

"We are well satisfied with the result of the democratic campaign. Gaynor will receive more votes than both the other candidates for mayor, and he will carry the whole democratic ticket with him in every borough."

Herbert Parsons, the republican
leader, said:

"Our fight against Tammany has won. Reports from every assembly district in the greater city show that Bannard will be elected by 59,000 plurality. The entire fusion ticket will go through with a land slide vote."

Charles H. Gehring for the Hearst forces, said:

"Hearst will get more than 300,000 votes winning by over 100,000 plurality over the Tammany candidate. I look for a land slide to Hearst."

$75.00 A BALE FOR COTTON

GOOD COTTON IS WORTH MORE TODAY THAN AT ANY TIME IN HISTORY OF TOWN.

SEED COTTON BRINGS $5.50

Quite a Good Deal Yet in the Hands of the Producer, With Little Remaining in the Fields to Be Gathered.

Cotton reached high water mark here today when good cotton brought fourteen and a half cents per pound.
Never before in the history of this city has a like price been paid for it.
Seed cotton was no drag at $5.50 per hundred and the buying has been spirited all day at these prices.

Notwithstanding the extreme short crop, there is quite a good deal yet being held, the farmer having anticipated something of this kind in price, and if there is no perceptible change in prices within the next ten days those who have a bale or a number of bales stored away will be bringing it to market. With present prices prevailing and most excellent weather all through the fall for gathering, enabling every boll to be saved, the farmer will realize more for his crop this year than he usually does—in times of a large crop with prices ranging from 8 to 10 cents.

See the Cliff Dwellers.

A rare opportunity is now afforded you to see and learn something of this pre-historic race. The knowledge you will gain from the scientific lecture alone is worth many times the price it cost you. Go at once.

NEWSPAPER TALK ON TARIFF.

Cambridge (Minn.) Independent: When the people of this country find out just exactly how bad the revision of the tariff is, to what extent the congress which has just adjourned has tried to fool them, there will be such an awakening as has seldom occurred. Much as the people of Minnesota hate to desert the republican party in national politics, they have done so when it became necessary to have such representation as they desired.

New York Times: Are we, then, to infer that the victory will always be with the combined forces of greed, and that the vastly larger but imperfectly organized and scattered forces of the true and lasting interests of the nation are forever to be defeated? By no means. It is a question of time and growth. The American people are steadily advancing beyond any need of any plausible excuse for extravagant protection, as Mr.
McKinley pointed out in his memorable speech on the eve of his untimely death. This fact was reluctantly acknowledged by the republican party last year. It has repeatedly been admitted by President Taft. It was proclaimed incessantly by the liberal members of the senate in the recent debates. It was the professed basis of the whole revision movement.
That movement failed at the last moment on account of the desperate and unscrupulous tactics of the greedy interests, acting on a body of legislators chosen under the old regime and subservient to their dictation or unable to resist their seductions. We do not believe that the same or like conditions can ever again be realized.

Minot (S. D.) Reporter: There's nothing like a big pull. Senator Aldrich had one. For all practical purposes he compelled his party to come his way; the country has not the slightest doubt that his determination was to take care of certain big incorporated interests. He delivered the goods.

Telluride (Col.) Journal: It is as certain as anything can be that the tariff has not been reformed in any important respect, and when all is done the consumers of the land will find themselves as much at the mercy of the great monopolies as ever, hence the fight for cheaper necessities of life will be continued in the congressional campaign next year with greater vigor and determination than ever characterized the tariff battles of the past.

CORELESS AND SEEDLESS APPLES

Washington Man Discovers a Freak in His Orchard—Will Propagate.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 2.—Coreless as well as seedless are the apples produced on a single tree of unknown variety in an eight-acre orchard at Voran Prairie, five miles north of Spokane, owned by B. K. Short a rancher. The largest of the fruit is three inches in diameter, the coloring being of a yellowish green, streaked with red. The apples have deep pink cheeks, and the flesh is firm and of excellent flavor. The tree is between 12 and 15 years old and is growing in sub-irrigated soil at an altitude of 2,225 feet. Short does not claim credit for developing the core-less-seedless apple, declaring it is a freak of nature.

Seven of the new apples were brought to the offices of the National Apple Show, Inc., in Spokane and quartered in the presence of Ren H.
Rice, secretary-manager, Prof. August van Holderbeke, formerly state commissioner of horticulture of Washington, and several growers from various parts of the Northwest, but none was able to classify the fruit. Prof. W. S.
Thornber, horticulturist at the State College of Washington, has been delegated by J. J. Brown, regent, of Spokane, to make a thorough examination of the tree to determine its origin.

Short has engaged three watchmen, each to work eight hours a day as guards in his orchard, to prevent injury to the tree. He intends to graft the scions on other trees the coming spring. Expert pomologists say if the process is successful he will have made a discovery of greater commercial importance than any yet credited to Luther Burbank and other plant wizards. They add that while the seedless apple is no longer a novelty, the production of a coreless one, long sought by growers throughout the world, is a distinct triumph in apple culture.

Little Bits of Fun.

Willie—Say, mother will it hurt to have this tooth pulled out?

Mrs. Slimson—Naturally; but it will be so sudden that you won't have time to think—just a quick turn, and it will be all over.

Willie—Um—that's all that could happen to me if I had my head pulled off.

About Oil of Wintergreen Compound.

Druggist G. M. Ramsey submits the following to the readers of the Evening News:

For several years we have announced, with our recommendation, that we had found a positive cure for eczema; a simple skin wash, oil of wintergreen compounded with other healing ingredients.

Yet we know there are people right in this town who have eczema, and still have never tried this remedy.

We have, therefore, arranged with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special offer of a trial bottle at 25 cents instead of the $1.00 bottle as regularly sold.

We offer this trial bottle with our recommendation and assurance that just as soon as the patient washes his itching skin, this mild liquid will take the itch away instantly.

WHAT THE ADA GINS HAVE DONE
Four Thousand and Twenty-Two Bales Ginned at Close of October.

Notwithstanding the shortage in the cotton crop this year the gins of Ada have done a fairly good business, in fact a greater percent of the cotton grown in the county has been handled by them than in previous years. Up to the close of the month of October there had been 4022 bales ginned by the four gins of the town, of this number there were 1175 round bales. Counting them as half bales would reduce the number 587½ bales, making it equal to 3435½ square bales. The number each gin has received is as follows: Farmers Gin Co., 1302; Oil and Cotton Co., 1053; The Blue Gin, 993; and the Round Bale Gin, 1175.

The greater part of the crop has been ginned, but it is thought that possibly eight hundred or a thousand more bales may be ginned before the close of the season.

A Good Time at Mrs. Beards.

It was two hours of solid fun at the Poverty Social given for the benefit of Home Mission at Mrs. Beard's last night. The fines amounted to a nice little sum, the salad course was luscious and everybody glad they went, even the poor fellow who was financially embarrassed and had to give his note for a 50 cent fine. Examination of costumes was rather a trying ordeal for the timid, but their laugh came as they witnessed the next fellow's turn.

Carpenter-Hill.

Then a dark automobile, which had been standing across the street, speeded away.

"Mother, I've a dreadful thing to confess to you. Last night when you told me to lie down in bed I lied own, but after you turned out the gas ground my teeth at you in the dark."

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

JUDGE FURMAN ADDRESSES THE CITIZENS OF WOODWARD UP-ON THIS THE MOST IMPORTANT SUBJECT OF THE DAY.

GOOD CITIZENS ARE MADE AT HOME

Liberty Cannot Be Long Maintained Among Hopelessly, Homeless People—Every Farm in Oklahoma to Be Cultivated by Its Owner.

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: "I always esteem it to be a compliment to be invited to address the free, intelligent and noble-hearted people among whom I live and who, so far as they are acquainted with me, I am proud to be able to call my friends.

"Having been reared and educated in the school of poverty and being a graduate of the college of hard knocks, I cannot address you in the eloquent language of the distinguished scholars who have preceded me, for while they were going to college, all of my time was taken up in trying to settle the bread and meat proposition. Therefore, I can only use language of every day life. So I desire to say that my address on this occasion will be like a dog's tail because it is bound to a cur, and it will be like a possum's tail because it won't be fur to the end.

"When I tell you that I am a Baptist and am President of the Baptist State Convention, you will know that I am in favor of putting everything under water which is in proper condition to receive water. Therefore, from every standpoint I am in favor of irrigation for Northwest Oklahoma, and I pledge my support to the furtherance of this great enterprise. The people of Oklahoma deserve the best of everything, and what is more, they are going to have it; they came into this new country with strong arms, bright minds and brave hearts; they suffered all sorts of privations and overcame apparently insurmountable obstacles; they have conquered the wilderness and built homes and cities and established civilization; they have proven themselves to be the salt and sugar of the earth, and that our salt, our men, have not lost their savor, and our sugar, our women, have not lost their sweetness. It is a characteristic of the people of Oklahoma that when they go after anything they never quit until they get it. We have the climate, we have the soil, we have the people, we have the water, and cost what it may in perseverance, labor or money, we are going to have irrigation, then Western Oklahoma will be known near and wide as one of the most favored sections on the face of the earth. But I am to speak on "Good Citizenship." I want to say that before any man can be a good citizen, or a good anything else, he must first be a true and loyal American. Every man should be proud of the State from which he comes. It does not argue well for any man not to see much to admire and to love among the people of the State in which he was reared. When I find a man who is not proud of the State from which he came, I do not want him for a neighbor, because I know that he did not associate with the best class of the people in that State. I am proud of my native state, but I am also proud of the United States. It is such a grand country that every section and every State has added much to the common heritage of American glory. I claim a part in all of it. We had a family fight once. We differed like men and we fought like men. We settled our differences like men and by the help of God we are going to live up to that settlement like men. I am Southern born and am proud of it, and I thank God that my people have been emancipated from the fearful curse of African slavery and that all men in America are now free.

"The United States Flag was the flag of my father and my grandfather. It is my flag and it will remain the flag of my children, and my children's children as long as reason controls the minds and patriotism burns in the hearts of the American people.

"My friends, to be good citizens we must rise to higher things and to a purer and nobler atmosphere than sectional feeling and partisan hate. If a man is a good citizen he will recognize the right of difference of opinion, and he will see that every difference of opinion is not a difference of principle and should never grow into a personal difference and result in antagonism, enmity and hate. All intelligent, honest and patriotic men, it matters not what their other difference may be, should unite in an earnest desire for good government. The place where the difference comes is as to the best means of securing this good government. Without difference of opinion good government would be impossible, for sameness means tameness and results in stagnation, corruption and death. It is the clash and conflict of ideas which brings out and elucidates the truth. So every good citizen recognizes and respects the right of every other citizen to think for himself, and to freely express his honest convictions. Without personal independence of thought and free speech it would be impossible to maintain a free government. So each one of us is just as much interested in securing to all others the right of independence of thought and free speech as we are in claiming it for ourselves. That we should differ is natural and should be expected. Therefore, when we differ let us do so as intelligent men, as gentlemen and as good citizens.

"There is another view of good citizenship which I want to take. Without homes it would be impossible to maintain society and government. A man will fight for his home, when he will not fight for a boarding house. Liberty cannot long be maintained among a hopelessly, homeless people. That country which attempts to force the tenant system on its people is preparing for its own destruction or is attempting to grind the people like grain beneath the upper and neether stone. I would to God that I could live to see the day when every farm in Oklahoma would be cultivated by its owner, and I am going to do all in my power to make this possible, at the earliest day, and this is why I am here today to assist all that I can in getting irrigation for Western Oklahoma.

"A country is but an aggregation of homes. No country can rise superior to the standard of its homes and woman is the arbiter of our home. There was never a race of brave men without there having first been a race of noble mothers. Woman is indeed the masterpiece and climax of God's creation. If you are a good citizen you will respect, love and honor the noble women of our state. Brother, your wife may not be as pretty as she used to be. She may have lost that rosy, peach-blossom color of the cheek; that cherry tint of the lips; her eyes may not be so bright as they used to be and her hand may have lost its velvety smoothness, but if you are worthy of the love of a good woman you will remember that she lost these attractions working for you and the children and you will love and honor her for it, and never allow a day to pass without showing her your appreciation of and love for her. Remember that good citizens are made at home. This is where you should prove that you are one and where you should strive to help your noble wife to make good citizens of the children. If you will half do your part the chances are ninety-nine in a hundred that she will do her full part, if not more. The man who can't appreciate a good woman is a base counterfeit upon true manhood coin, and should be nailed to the counter. No man who mistreats his family is or can be a good citizen. No man who is false to his friends and unfaithful to his obligations is or can be a good citizen. The good citizen is a faithful and loving husband and father; a true and loyal friend; a truthful, honest and fearless witness and juror, and a just and faithful officer. Every good citizen renders a ready and willing obedience to the laws of his country and labors to develop all of its resources and to advance the great causes of education and morality. It is such ideals as these that make a country great, prosperous and happy.

"My friend, you can show your love of country in times of peace as well as in times of war. It takes physical courage to fight the battles of your country in times of war. This is commendable. It takes moral courage to fight the battles of your country in times of peace. This is sublime.

"My friends, listen to this. The true cause and prime responsibility for bad government lies at the door and rests upon the shoulders of the people themselves. You have it in your power to make anything out of Oklahoma that you want. But to do this you must be good citizens and do your duty. Privilege and duty go hand in hand and should be one and inseparable. Those only should be permitted to exercise the rights and privileges of citizenship who discharge the duties of citizenship.

"I desire to impress upon your minds the idea that the nomination of candidates is more important than the election of candidates. Unless good citizens are nominated for office good citizens cannot be elected to office. No nomination changes a bad citizen into a good citizen. The nomination is the seed planting time. If bad seed are planted bad crops will be gathered. We have Divine authority for the statement, 'Whatsoever a man soweth, that also shall he reap.' It matters not what political party you belong to, it is your duty as a good citizen to attend the primaries and do all that you can to secure the nomination of good citizens for office.

"Allow me to give you a good rule to measure your candidates by. In ancient days when strong men were Kings and all others were their subjects or their slaves, a man was valued on account of his strength; he was measured around the arm. Then came a period of high education. Then men were valued on account of their intellectual attainments; they were measured around the brain. Then the Savior came and taught the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of man, human sympathy, hope and love. Then men were valued on account of their moral character; they were measured around the heart. In these latter days of commercialism when men ask, will it pay, rather than, is it right, when the dollar is placed above the man and above principle, there are many who measure candidates around the pocket book.

"My friend, if you want good citizens in office, measure your candidates around the arm, around the brain and around the heart. Not until you do this will you get good government. If you love liberty and justice, cut out this pocketbook measurement of candidates. If you have voted to nominate a candidate on the pocketbook basis, never do it again. How can a man who has spent his entire life in enriching himself at the expense of his fellow men, sympathize with them? What does he know of the heart aches, and pains, the needs, the hopes, the aspirations of the people upon whom he has fattened and whose burdens he has increased and never born? Can the leopard change his spots, or the Ethiopian his color? Neither can any man by taking thought add one cubit to his height. These things are just as possible as is the supposition that a pocket book candidate can sympathize with the people at whose expense he has enriched himself.

"My friends, unless you wish to sell your heritage, it matters not in what party you may be, if any candidate in the future attempts by the use of money to secure a nomination or election, do all in your power to defeat him. No man ever accepts money to work for a candidate for office without sacrificing his self respect and the respect of others and being tainted thereby. An office gained on the pocket book measurement is not evidence of honor; on the contrary it is evidence of demoralization, debauchery and corruption. No good citizen is willing to hold any office except upon the basis of honor. He regards bought honors as badges of disgrace. No man should receive a nomination or election unless it comes to him as the result of the unbought confidence and good will of the people. The great men of this country, those who have been true to and have blessed the people, have been poor in purse but rich in the gratitude and love of the people. Select your officers from this class and you will have good government.

Just one thought about your boy. Take it home with you and talk to your wife about it. If you permit this pocketbook measurement of candidates to remain in Oklahoma it will shut the door of home in the face of your son, unless by some means, it matters not how, he gets hold of an immense fortune and can then buy what he wants. Do you want to hold up this standard of citizenship for him to follow after? Then if with such ideas in his head and such principles in his heart, he becomes a moral wreck and lands in the penitentiary, who have you to blame for the ruin of your boy except yourself and those whose examples you bid him follow? This is not only a home question, but it is also a serious and dangerous question which involves the destiny of every boy in this state, both for time and eternity, and it is one for every father and mother to seriously consider. It lies at the very bottom of good morals without which good citizenship and good government is impossible. Let this idea soak into your mind and then see to it that as a good citizen you live up to your honest convictions in the future, let it please or shake whosoever it may. Be true to yourself, your boy, and your country and you will be a good citizen.

"When General Lee was dying in Virginia he sent this last message to the students of Washington University, of which he was President: 'Duty is the grandest word in the English language.'

"When General Grant was dying at Mount McGregor, he wrote to one of his friends, 'The thought which now affords me the greatest consolation is that I always tried to do my duty.' Did you follow Lee? Did you follow Grant? Do you admire and love these two noble Americans? Then listen to these two voices from the Spirit Land, and always try to do your duty. Do this and you will be a good citizen. Do this and your children and our children's children will rise up and call you blessed and no star will shine more brightly in the constellation of States, and none will shed more resplendent glory upon our Union than will the Star of Oklahoma.
